Whether you are in the middle of preparing to teach a summer course or are just starting on your fall semester syllabus, here are a few tips to help you have a successful semester by ensuring that you and your students have all the materials and links to readings.

« Tip #1: Permanent Links to Resources

Students expect when they click on a link that it goes directly to the article. Learn how to create permanent links to online resources (i.e. articles, online reports, e-book chapters).

GO TO: Linking to Electronic Resources: Creating Durable Links

« Tip #2: Access to Resources

Confirm we have access to the journals, e-books and books you have included in your syllabus. Contact the Himmelfarb Library with your required readings and print materials and we will help you confirm access. GO TO:

« Tip #3: Course Reserves

If you have a resource you wish to ensure is available to your students, contact us to request to place your materials on course reserve.

GO TO: Course Reserve Request Form

« Tip #4: Copyright Compliance

Do you have questions regarding copyright, fair use and requesting permission to use resources?

« Tip #5: Librarian Guest Lecture

Do you have an assignment that demands research skills such as searching for evidence in the literature? Consider requesting a librarian to be a guest lecturer in your course. We can help your students navigate databases and provide research guidance and support on their topics.
