Himmelfarb Health Sciences Library offers a collection of films for use in a classroom setting, or just for your personal enjoyment. The video collection centers on public health and health policy topics, and each video is available in streaming format so links to the video can be embedded in course materials and accessed online by all GW affiliates. For example, in these hot summer days, you might want to watch:

Cooked : survival by zip code

"Chicago suffered the worst heat disaster in U.S history in 1995, when 739 residents--mostly elderly and black--died over the course of one week. As Cooked links the deadly heat wave's devastation back to the underlying manmade disaster of structural racism, it delves deep into one of our nation's biggest growth industries: disaster preparedness."

Daring Women Doctors

At this crucial time when women physicians and nurses are contributing significantly to our community's health, this documentary provides a look at the challenging and illuminating history of 19th century women doctors. Hidden in American history, all-women's medical schools began to appear in the mid-19th century long before women had the right to vote or own property.

The Only Doctor

In one of Georgia's poorest and unhealthiest counties, Dr. Karen Kinsell struggles to keep her rural clinic open to provide the only local healthcare available for forty miles.

Love In the Time of Fentanyl

As deaths in Vancouver, Canada, reach an all-time high, the Overdose Prevention Society opens its doors to a renegade supervised drug consumption site that employs active and former drug users. Its staff and volunteers do whatever it takes to save lives and give hope to a marginalized community in this intimate documentary that looks beyond the stigma of people who use fentanyl and other drugs.

How to Survive a Plague

Journalist-turned-filmmaker David France unveils the courageous story of the activists and scientists who fought to stop HIV from becoming a death sentence.
